TUITION ASSISTANCE:

We serve any person wishing to learn and those in need of care regardless of financial circumstance. We train people of all traditions to develop capacity, tenderness, and the passion of service. We keep tuition fees as low as possible while also recognizing the necessity for long term viability of this school. The exchange for service is essential. We remain present to the economic challenges of our lives.

Payment Plans: Payment plans are made individually between the participant and staff of the UH. Rather than discounts in tuition, many current students pay for tuition with regular, interest-free monthly or quarterly payments. (This is now possible to do on-line and can also be set up to work directly through paypal.) There are some students who participate in many workshops throughout the year and negotiate a monthly payment to include tuition for all events, paid throughout the year.

Tuition Assistance: Tuition assistance is allocated individually between the participant and staff of the UH. We provide assistance on an as-needed basis. We recognize times of crisis when there is no extra income. We recognize the demands of viability in an economy with ever-increasing rates of health care and unemployment. We recognize the limits of people on fixed-income, whether because of age, raising children, illness, disability, etc. Our politic with money is fundamental to the life of the Tradition. This Tradition rises from the deep springs of life.

DONATIONS

Although The Unseen Hand is partly funded by its workshops, it is the financial support of individuals that enables the school to fulfill its wider purpose. Individual donations are an important source of income for The Unseen Hand: Medicine from Antiquity.

We rely entirely on the support of those who share in the vision of our School. This Tradition returns at a critical moment in Time. We serve those who ask to learn, those in need of care, and any student wishing to participate. To keep an open door, no matter what.

Thank you for your consideration.

The Unseen Hand: Medicine from Antiquity is a 501 (c) (3) nonprofit, and donations are tax deductible in the U.S.

We are currently using the financial services of PayPal for all donations. Through them it is possible to make both one time donations as well as recurring monthly donations.
